PROVIDING THE CITIZENS OF MILWAUKIE WITH INFORMATION TO BETTER GOVERN THEMSELVES

VOLUME 9, ISSUE 11

November 1999

Milwaukie's Local Leaders

Keeping a City tradition alive

Every summer grandparents watch grandchildren learn to swim in the very same Milwaukie Pool they swam in when they were kids. That's the way it is with the Milwaukie Pool, built in the early 1930's, the pool is an integral part of the community.

That tradition was threatened three summers ago when budgetary constraints forced the North Clackamas School District to pull its funding. That's when Sandy McCune and Sally Collins met, created the Friends of the Milwaukie Pool organization, and miraculously raised the money to keep the pool open for another summer in just two weeks.

The pair has orchestrated similar rescues the past two summers, and are working on a third. They say they're involved because of what the pool means to them, their families, and their community.

Their work, which both describe as being like a second job, is not without its rewards.

"I can't describe the feeling I get when I go down there and see the kids swimming," Sandy said.

While they have coordinated the efforts, they point out that it's the donations from community members that keep the pool going.

Sally and Sandy thanked the school district for their ongoing partnership, a host of private citizens that have made considerable donations, and the Neighborhood Associations for their contributions.

The efforts to keep the pool alive are ongoing. If you would like to help, either by donating money or time, please call the Friends of the Milwaukie Pool at 654-8123. ☎

Downtown and Riverfront Meeting unveils design

At the September Downtown and Riverfront Open House Meeting more than 70 citizens reviewed the latest plans aiming to revitalize our City's center.

The design team synthesized the opinions and comments gathered from three previous Open Houses and from hundreds of ballots collected from information kiosks, and then developed a single plan. That plan was unveiled at the Sept. 22 meeting, and cost estimates were introduced for the first time in the process.

The design featured a hotel where the Kellogg Treatment Plant now stands, an expansive public garden near Milwaukie Middle School and a block-wide parkway between Monroe and Jefferson that runs underneath McLoughlin Boulevard. The parkway would feature a resurfaced Spring Creek

City readies itself for Y2K

Much has been made of the possible "Y2K Problem" and many citizens want to know what the City of Milwaukie has done to prepare itself for the new millennium. It is suspected many computer-driven systems will crash because their dating chips will confuse January 1, 2000 with January 1, 1900.

Laura Atanes, the City's Information Systems and Technology Manager, says

Recycling gets a little easier

Residents in Milwaukie and Clackamas County saw a big change in the way they recycle last month. The new "comingling" program that allows customers to mix recyclables into fewer groups should make recycling and helping the environment an easier and quicker process.

The new program is easy. Paper products, including newspaper, magazines,

A new millennium, a new vision for Milwaukie

FROM YOUR COUNCIL

As 1999 comes to a close we are all getting busy with preparations for the winter season, the holiday rush and the advent of a new millennium.

Most of us have had experience with the first two of these activities, but none of us have ever been through a millennium before!

As a Council, we view this momentous occasion as an opportunity to come together and forge a new beginning for Milwaukie, by way of adopting a new Vision for our City.

A vision is the community's ideal of what it should become in the future. It defines, in broad terms, our 'ideal' big picture. Our vision serves as the beacon by which we develop policies and adopt plans toward achieving a better future. It prioritizes how we use our resources and it is the legacy we leave our children.

Milwaukie's neighborhoods, boards and commissions have all been working very hard over the past 18 months to develop their individual visions. Each has identified goals they would like to pursue to improve the quality of life for Milwaukians. Their goals and priorities have been a critical part of our visioning effort. They have informed us as a Council, and served as the building blocks of a citywide vision.

On Saturday, Oct. 9, these highly dedicated community leaders joined us at the Public Safety Building to review and discuss the first draft of a new City vision. We got important feedback from them on how it should be refined. But we all agreed that one pass wasn't enough.

A vision is the community's ideal of what it should become in the future. It prioritizes how we use our resources and it is the legacy we leave our children.

We all value broad-based citizen participation and we want to hear from as many people as we possibly can on this project. We want a vision that will guide us in building the best community for all Milwaukians.

For this reason, we urge you to attend your next neighborhood meeting to review the draft vision and share your thoughts.

Neighborhood, Board and Commission Chairs with the help of their City liaisons, will be distributing the vision and mission statements, and collecting community feedback on the draft up until Dec. 9.

At that point we will compile all the comments we received and incorporate them into a final vision and mission statement for the City. We will review what you told us at our Dec. 20 work session.

It is our hope to adopt a new City Vision as our first official action of the new Millennium. Please join us in this effort.

If you cannot attend your next neighborhood meeting but would still like an chance to review the draft, your are welcome to obtain a copy from the Neighborhoods Office at City Hall. Contact Michelle Gregory, Neighborhood Services Manager, at 786-7539.

Reviewed copies can be returned to Neighborhood Services, the City Recorder's Office or the Ledding Library up until Dec. 9 at 5 p.m.

Thank you for your participation. ☒

Striving to work better with businesses, citizens

Written by Dan Bartlett, City Manager

Responding to individual citizen's dreams and visions is one of the most difficult parts of many city employees' jobs.

Our employees have to be able to help a citizen build their business, or private property dreams while ensuring that the public role of protecting the health, safety, and welfare of all members of our community is addressed.

This can be difficult at times. This has become painfully apparent with the recent closing of a downtown business. We made a mistake in our code enforcement. We did not treat the business owner, as we ourselves would like to be treated.

The business owner chose to close the business. The City has to live with this result and use it as a learning experience for the future.

We have responded to this situation in much the same way that a neighborhood would respond to a community oriented policing and problem-solving issue.

We are using an organizational version of the SARA (Scanning, Analysis, Response, Assessment) model. We are Scanning to identify the service delivery problem that needs to be solved. We did this in part by holding a morning meeting with business and property owners.

We have started an Analysis of the situation and process. We had Henry D. Kass, Ph.D., a Professor of Public Administration, from Portland State University working with our Development Review Team. This problem has been turned over to them to analyze.

They will develop a Response after information has been collected and those directly responsible for delivering permit services have been interviewed. This response will look to a long-term solution that addresses this problem's cause. This response will be shared with the business and property owners.

We will be asking those individuals that have been adversely effected by our previous policies to help us Assess the results of our permit process changes. Employees and our business partners will track the results and determine if the problem has been solved.

When city employees provide citizen service, we expect reliability built upon demonstrated competence and care supported by responsiveness.

If you as a citizen do not believe you are receiving this, I want to be the first to know. My direct phone number is 786-7501. If you feel I have not followed through on this commitment, then the Mayor's voice mail number is 786-7510. She checks this number daily. ☒

Center's Meals on Wheels needs a hand

The Milwaukie Center's Meals on Wheels program provides nutritional meals to more than 200 people every day.

This food goes to those in the community who have a hard time getting to the store or cooking for themselves. It's a tremendous service, but as is typically the case, the Milwaukie Center could use some extra help in making the program even stronger.

If you have the time the Center is looking for volunteer drivers and food packers.

Drivers typically begin their rounds around 11 a.m. and service anywhere between 10 to 15 home-bound residents. Drivers can work any number of days they wish, and all applicants need is a valid driver's license.

Morning food packers prepare the meals for delivery and begin around 8:30 a.m. Afternoon packers begin around 1 p.m..

If you can help out, please call the Milwaukie Center at 653-8100. ☒

City improves chances for parks

On Oct. 5, 1999 City Council adopted a map that targets five different areas in which the City can more swiftly pursue parklands and open spaces.

The map is part of the Parks, Open Spaces and Trails (POST) Refinement Process, a program passed in June that gives the City a much better chance to acquire available lands. Before the POST program was implemented, the City had to go through a process that could take as long as 30 to 60 days before even beginning negotiations, while private interests could act at any time.

The POST program helps the City compete for these fleeting opportunities because it gives the City Manager more latitude in jumping in the negotiating process.

That doesn't mean the City Manager has free reign. That's what's so important about the map adopted on Oct. 5.

Dogs get their chance to swim

They say every dog has its day.

Nowhere was that more true than at the North Clackamas Aquatic Park, where on September 27, 1999 it held "Dog Daze," a fund raiser in which 170 dogs got a chance to take advantage of the pools and water slides.

The event raises money for the North Clackamas Parks and Recreation Foundation and Clackamas County Dog Control. The two agencies split the proceeds, and each brought in about $400.

The event intentionally coincided with the last day of the pool's summer session. The pool was closed down and drained after the event in preparation for the fall season. The pool opened three weeks later on Oct. 15, after the collection of pools were refilled with fresh water and properly chlorinated. ☒

More than 170 dogs took the plunge at "Dog Daze."

Places to put old telephone books

Wondering what to do with your old phone books?

Well, you can recycle them at the curb or take them to your local Fred Meyer store. It's all a part of US Wests Phone Book Recycling Program. For more information call the Hotline at 503-291-6030 ext.BOOK (2665).

The nearest Fred Meyers are:

- Oak Grove, 14700 S.E. McLoughlin
- Johnson Creek, 8955 S.E. 82nd Ave.
- Clackamas, 16301 S.E. 82nd Dr.

The program ends on Jan. 30, 2000. ☒

Traffic sweeps stress safety

In a regional effort to make our highways and school zones safer places, eight different law enforcement agencies combined their forces and focused their efforts in Milwaukie on Oct. 14 and handed out 60 traffic citations and 16 warnings in just three hours of work.

The saturation patrol is part of the Strategic Traffic Accident Reduction Team (START) which pools resources from regional police departments to conduct traffic violation sweeps.

Saturation patrols are conducted twice a month, and are rotated around the member agencies' jurisdictions.

In Milwaukie, police officers focused their efforts on the City's school zones as well as Highway 224 and Highway 99E. ☒

Council returns to City Hall

If you've been to City Hall within the past month you've likely noticed some pretty dramatic changes.

For example, Council's Chambers has been completely renovated, the Conference Room used for work sessions has received a face-lift and what used to be the fire house is now home to the Neighborhood Services and Records Divisions.

Work began back in June of 1998 and the new office space above the fire bay is still getting some finishing touches, but Council has been back home in City Hall since October.

The Council Chambers is outfitted with new audio and visual equipment, new ceilings, walls and carpet, and features more graphic and visual equipment that enables staff to make better presentations.

The over-arching goal was to make a more modern and more friendly Council Chambers, and to equip the room with technology that offers citizens a wider range of information. ☒ cardboard, paper bags, milk and drink cartons and scrap paper, can now be put together in one recycling bin. Here are a few guidelines to follow:

Newspaper and magazines:

Place loose in the bin.

Place larger boxes beneath the bin.

Place scrap paper in a paper bag.

Milk and juice cartons should be rinsed clean, flattened and bagged with scrap paper.

Metals and plastic bottles:

Place together in one bag, recycling bin or other rigid container.

Remove the paper label, rinse any steel and aluminum metal cans.

Plastic bottles with necks smaller than the base can be recycled.

Glass bottles and jars:

Separate from the other items.

Remove lids, rinse clean and place all colors of glass together in a paper bag, bucket, box or recycling bin.

For more information about the recycling program please call JoAnn Herrigel at 786-7508. ☒

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: Nov. 8, 8 p.m.

Where: Hector Campbell Elementary

Agenda: City Vision Process

Last spring the Hector Campbell Neighborhood Association presented their Neighborhood Vision to the City Council.

They put a lot of thought and effort into how they wanted the neighborhood to grow and how they could preserve the best things about the neighborhood.

Some even walked around the Neighborhood taking pictures of what they liked and didn't like in order to better get their message across.

The City Council has now developed a Draft Vision, based on the neighborhood visions, and the goals of the boards and commissions. They are seeking feedback from the neighborhoods.

Please join the Nov. 8 meeting to review and comment on the Draft City Vision.

that runs through the heart of the City down to the Willamette River.

George Crandall, the lead consultant heading the project's design, estimated it would require about a $14.4 million public investment in order to spur the type of private investment required to make the "Parkway" plan a reality. George says the initial $14.4 million investment would create a framework that could stimulate as much as $103 million in private investments.

The group of citizens that attended the meeting were largely supportive of the design, but asked a lot of questions. Many commented that they wanted to see some sort of marine facility maintained on the Willamette, City Hall should stay where it is, and housing near the Milwaukie Middle School should be kept to a minimum.

Comments were recorded and will be used in refining the design. A Town Hall Meeting displaying the latest design was scheduled for Oct. 27, and details of that meeting will be featured in future editions of the Pilot. ☒

More than 100 High Schoolers from the area helped install playground equipment at Watertower Park at 40th Avenue and Harvey Street.

Y2K from page 1

Milwaukie stands ready.

She's been working on the City's Y2K readiness since the very first day she was hired on Sept. 2, 1997.

As Laura explains it, the first step was to conduct an evaluation of all the City's equipment to determine what might contain dating chips that could be Y2K dependent. After they had a working list of equipment that might be affected by Y2K, they upgraded or replaced those systems with Y2K ready products.

All systems were installed with Y2K certified technology in June of 1998. From June of '98 to July of '99 Laura's staff tested each piece of equipment to make sure it would be up and running at 12:01 a.m. on Jan. 1, 2000.

To name just a few of the major systems that have been confirmed Y2K ready are all of the City's personal computers, which include all billing and record information systems, the water system and the storm water and sewer systems.

If you have any questions, please call Information Specialist Grady Wheeler at 786-7503. ☒

HISTORIC MILWAUKIE

Written by Ed Zumwalt, Historic Milwaukie Chair

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: Nov. 18, 7 p.m.

Where: Milwaukie Elementary

It was an active summer for all of us, and we can look forward to a busy schedule until next summer's break.

First on our agenda will be the City's Mission and Vision Statements, for which we will be asked to analyze and provide input in the next month. Council has a tentative targeted date for early January for final acceptance of the documents.

This is important to all of us, as the statements will be our compass for the future.

This month we have been able to assist two unfortunate families through our partnership with Milwaukie Elementary School.

One family was in an emergency state due to an accident to the breadwinner, and the other family suffered severe losses in a fire. We felt fortunate that we could provide a $200 check to each family in order to help them weather a difficult situation.

The way this partnership works is that staff from the Elementary school refers families that could use a hand to our Neighborhood leadership. With grant money obtained from the Milwaukie Grant Program, we are able to lend some assistance.

Our clothing pack project at the Elementary School was also completed. We provided the materials and Terry Lamb, the school's handyman, furnished the labor to build the heavy duty racks for donated clothing. This project was the brain-child of former Milwaukie Mayor Bill Hupp.

At the present we are working on a Grant request that would incorporate Milwaukie High students with community service experience, and at the same time give the rest of us the benefit of their youth and fresh ideas.

Belatedly, we would like to thank the sponsors of our summer concert series at Scott Park: Libbey's Restaurant, the Bomber, Gary Michael, Milne Masonry, Milwaukie Glass and Olsen Bros. Service.

We salute them for their community spirit and for their part in helping us provide lunch-time Concerts in the Park.

LEWELLING

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: Nov. 4, 7 p.m.

Where: City Hall Conference Room

The Lewelling Neighborhood Association met October 7, 1999 in the Elementary School's library and concentrated their efforts on developing strategies that would encourage greater citizen participation at future meetings. The Lewelling Neighborhood is currently without a Chair, Vice Chair, or Secretary, and former leadership is working to make sure their Association does not disband.

One suggestion was to make meetings issue driven rather than calendar driven. As former Lewelling Chair Cindy O'Reilly explains it, people might be more likely to attend a meeting if it focuses on a Neighborhood project or issue, rather than discussing a wide array of topics at a monthly meeting. Cindy thinks people might be more active if they have a project "they can wrap their arms around."

Following that idea, the Lewelling Neighborhood Association will focus its Nov. 4, 1999 meeting on improving its annual Holiday Lights Contest. The past two years the Neighborhood Association has awarded the Lewelling resident with the most impressive display, and the Neighborhood wants to talk at their Nov. 4 meeting about ways they can make their contest even better. Ideas that are being kicked around are publicizing the leading contenders and having a Milwaukie-wide vote. Another idea is to have a party at Lewelling Elementary after the winner is awarded.

Cindy thought another issue that might attract neighborhood participation is building a neighborhood coalition against a communications tower AT&T is proposing to build on a piece of property in the back of Lewelling Elementary.

The proposed site is the same site more than 40 neighborhood volunteers cleared as an outdoors environmental classroom for Lewelling school kids back in April. At the Neighborhood Association's last meeting Lewelling residents voted to oppose the tower's construction.

Cindy hopes residents will attend future meetings to track future developments.

Cindy O'Reilly works the outdoor classroom site behind Lewelling Elementary back in April. AT&T is proposing to put a tower on the site.

Neighbors enjoy good food and prizes at September Open House

Our second annual open house was held September 16. We enjoyed catered food and beverages and heard a brief presentation from Clackamas County Education Service District representatives telling about the recent purchase of the church property which is located between Lake Road and Highway 224.

The county will use the property for administrative offices. Neighbors voiced many questions, mostly dealing with the potential for traffic problems in Lake Road near the site.

Most of our neighbors attending the open house took home a prize. There was quite a variety from a huge bag of popcorn to a nice office chair. We wish to thank our local businesses who donated prizes: Desires of Your Heart, Le Canari Bistro, One Hour Photo, Vic's Tavern, Geo & Jem, Zuka Juice, Baskin Robbins, GourmetTreats, Milwaukie Popkorn, Graham's Books & Stationary, Milwaukie Floral, Dr. Froland, Optometrist, and Bob's Red Mill. We appreciate the generosity of these local businesses.

Learn about City Historic Homes at our November 18 meeting.

Most people don't know it, but Milwaukie has quite a list of significant historic homes. They vary in size, architectural style and also are in varying states of preservation, from immaculate to almost abandoned.

A complete slide presentation will be given at the November meeting. Gregg Chew, from McKeever Morris planning consultants, will present the slide lecture. Gregg oversees Milwaukie's Historic Review Commission, the citizen board which works toward preserving and enhancing Milwaukie's history.

This is a very interesting presentation.

The Lake Road Open House gave residents an opportunity to get to know their Neighborhood Association and each other a little better.

If you are interested in old homes and historic architecture, you won't want to miss this meeting.

Meeting schedule for 2000

Your Co-Chairs are discussing a change in the frequency of when our neighborhood association meets. Our by-laws say we can meet bi-monthly. The last few years we have met monthly. We will discuss this at the November meeting.

NOTICE: No Meeting in December. Have a Happy Holiday Season!

ARDENWALD/JOHNSON CREEK

Written by Sherri Campbell, Ardenwald and Johnson Creek Secretary

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:

When: Nov. 9, 6:30 p.m.

Where: Ardenwald Elementary

Agenda: City Vision Process

Child Care Available

The Oct. 12, 1999 Ardenwald/Johnson Creek Neighborhood meeting was preceded by the Johnson Creek Boulevard Open House.

The Open House was designed to fully explain all that is involved with the street repair project and to give citizens an opportunity to voice their concerns. Some neighbors were worried about moving current gas lines, and others raised the possibility of installing traffic calming devices in response to the possible increase in traffic.

It was explained that the actual traffic lanes will be reduced, but a sidewalk will be installed on one side of the road, and a bike lane will be featured on the other. Properties are currently staked and Painted to show how property lines will be effected.

We also discussed future Neighborhood Grant projects. Two that are in the works include purchasing tools for the students at Ardenwald Elementary for clean-up projects and a scholarship program for Ardenwald students graduating from high school.

On Oct. 6 we held our "Walk Your Child to School Day" and it was very successful. The caravan assembled at Lisac's Fireplaces and we walked across our new raised crosswalks and over to Ardenwald Elementary. The walk was to promote healthy and safe walking in the neighborhood.

Maybe you have driven by the Water Tower Park at 40th and Harvey. The new play structures were installed Oct. 2, by hard working volunteers from the Clackamas and Milwaukie High Schools. The Neighborhood Association gave some money for the Munchies Committee for feeding these 100 or so students and advisors. Fabulous work, the park looks great!

Next month we will be working on the Milwaukie Vision Project, please join us. Remember, we now begin our meetings at 6:30 p.m.

Children make their trek to school with parents, school and City staff on "Take Your Child to School Day."

LINWOOD

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:
When: Nov. 18, 7 p.m.
Where: Linwood Elementary

The Linwood Neighborhood Association had its first meeting since its summer break on Sept. 23. We had a fun and informative meeting and I think we all walked away knowing a little more about our community.

Some of the topics we addressed were the TCI cable rate hike and the increase in sewer rates. We wanted to learn the reasons behind each increase.

Councilors Jeff Marshall and Larry Lancaster were on hand and they were able to shed some light on each of these subjects.

The rest of the meeting was taken up with talk of what was occurring around the Neighborhood. Things like what's happening at the aquatic park, what great things you can find at the Milwaukie Center, and all the other places citizens can go to volunteer their time. We also discussed the excavation and construction work that is occurring just off Linwood Avenue next to Furnberg Street.

Another issue that came up was the condition of our streets. There are some streets in the Linwood Neighborhood that are in such disrepair they can knock the fillings out of your teeth when you drive down them. Solutions are complex and, of course, always involve money.

One of the ways we felt we might bring some of the streets closer to the top of the repair list was to complete the Capital Needs Suggestion Form that is available from the City.

This form provides an avenue for our neighbors to let the City know about capital improvements they feel need to be made. You can get these forms from me or at City Hall. Remember, it is the squeaky wheel that gets the oil.

We hope to see you at our next meeting. We need people to get involved with our Neighborhood Association. If you would like to be an officer please let us know, we sure could use the help.

ISLAND STATION

NEXT MEETING'S INFO:
When: Nov. 12, 7 p.m.
Where: Milwaukie Grange

The Island Station Neighborhood Association met on Oct. 14 to discuss the McLoughlin Boulevard Project scheduled near Island Station and the railroad crossing improvement project set for 22nd Avenue and Bluebird Street.

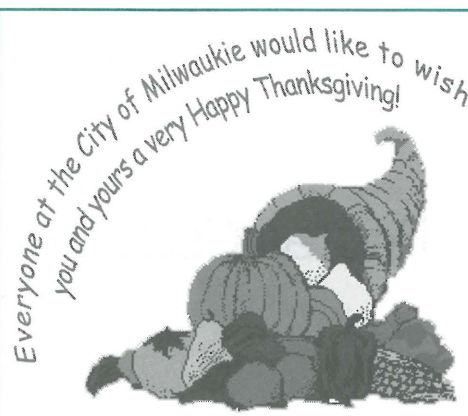

Largely supportive of the project, there was an extended discussion about finding better ways to calm the southbound approach from McLoughlin on to Bluebird. The proposed traffic island was discussed as was the possibility of sharpening the right turn on that intersection.

Rob Shelton, Milwaukie's engineer responsible for traffic issues, presented the plan for the Bluebird Street railroad crossing improvement and the subsequent closings of the crossings at Wren and Bobwhite Streets. He guided the group through a presentation that included project goals, a description of the work, rationale for upgrading the crossing and closing the others and the application requirements for funding. The group voted to support the project, as long as neighborhood concerns about train noise would be successfully conveyed to the Railroad.

The Neighborhood Association then voted to elect Rick Farasay as the new neighborhood chair and to re-elect Molly Hanthorne and Gary Michael as Land Use Chair, and Committee members.

The next meeting has been set for Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Grange. The main agenda items will be to discuss the Draft City Vision Review, the Mural grant project, and ways of getting other people involved.

Council Actions from the month of October

Authorized the City Manager to sign a Purchase Order in the amount of $103,756 for the purchase of a new sweeper. The machine will be purchased from the local dealer.

Adopted a set of boundary changes under the Milwaukie Zoning Ordinance and an exhibit that establishes fees for the annexation, exhibited annexation and other boundary changes.

Adopted a resolution adopting a target area map as part of the Parks, Open Spaces and Trails Acquisition Program Implementation Work Plan. The map describes areas that are underserved by parks. (See related story on Page 3.)

Authorized the City Manager to add the Information Systems Analyst classification to the salary schedule. This position will take the place of contracted services.

Adopted an ordinance repealing a section of the Milwaukie Tax Code, the Business License code, and amending a section of the Business Tax Code. The changes will not result in additional revenue, but will free up staff time in several City departments that can be dedicated to other projects.

Swore in Milwaukie's new Police Chief, Larry Kanzler, and held a special ceremony.
